That the smoker to be held this evening in the Union, under the auspices of the Union House Committee, will be a success goes without saying, but as for the question of how big a success — that rests entirely with the student body and with the professoriate. For although there may be the most eloquent of speakers, the jazziest of jazz bands, and the most enticing of drinks, what are these if there be not sufficient attendance to appreciate them? So everyone be there—Seniors, Juniors, Sophomores and Freshmen.

Now for a mention of the inducements to bring the average student hurrying to the Union after his evening meal—for the upper years, these need no fresh invitation, they will come anyway, as the memory of the songs, the smokes and the good times of the last smoker still linger in his memory. But for the benefit of the first year men, it might be well to say that first of all there will be music—music provided by the best of jazz bands—for what is an evening without music? Nor in this will the audience be solely listeners; there will be many rousing choruses and many stirring yells to exercise the vocal chords of the willing, and to enable all to feel "doing his bit" to make the events go with zest.

For the curious there will be numbers on the programme of no ordinary interest—among these may be designated card tricks by a leading Montreal performer in this line. His exact identity, as well as that of the various elocutionists, singers and comedians, is being withheld by those in charge. Also there are being procured a few prominent speakers—foremost among these ranks "Doc" Sullivan, whom the committee expect to induce to speak during the entertainment.

Then lastly comes refreshments in

SHAG AS CHEER LEADER TO-DAY

"Thundering Thousand" To Train Under Eye of Mc-Gill's Wonder-Coach.

Rooters will indulge in their regular practice this afternoon at the Stadium, where, along with the band, they will be taken in hand by Shag, Captain "Dud" Ross and Flin Flanagan for a short period, following which, Cheer-leaders Thompson and Wain will put the "Thundering Thousand" through a snappy practice. All rooters and bandmen are asked to report at the Old Campus at 5:10 p.m., whence they will proceed in a body to the Stadium.

Besides being a leader of Rugby players, Shag can also handle rooters in proper style, and the training they will receive this evening from the heads of the Rugby squad should be well worth the trip up the hill.

Thanksgiving Day's game against the M.A.A.A. demonstrated that at McGill this year there is a nucleus for a grand crowd of rooters which should make the Stadium ring with its mighty yells and songs. With the Queen's game not far off, "Teedles" is preparing a big show by the rooters and has started the ball rolling by organizing a real band, which he claims will eliminate all "dead stuff" and will bring forth only snappy yells and lively songs. Last Monday there were approximately 800 rooters for the holiday fixture, and for the two big intercollegiate fixtures here, at the end of this month and the beginning of November, the cheer-leaders expect to keep the "gang" up to the standard of the "Thundering Thousand."

All up to-day for the big work-out with the Rugby leaders at the Stadium.

'VARSITY STAR JOINS MCGILL RUGBY SQUAD

"Curly" Carroll Registers In First Year Law.

GOOD KICKING HALF.

Turned Out With Red and White Squad Yesterday Afternoon.

"Curley" Carroll, star half of the Toronto Varsity Intermediate Rugby squad last season, and early this year regarded by the Varsity supporters as one of their best prospects on the senior back division of the Blue and White squad, has thrown in his lot with McGill University. The snappy Rugby player registered yesterday in his first year in the Faculty of Law, and immediately started in on his course as a full-fledged undergraduate. News to this effect was quickly spread across the campus yesterday afternoon and caused a flutter of excitement among the ardent supporters of the Rugby squad at McGill.

Carroll is rated as one of the most likely kicking halves in inter-collegiate Rugby this season, and although he has had little chance to show his worth with the Red and White squad yet, he was out with the team yesterday and followed the plays to learn the signals. It is expected that he will indulge in a further work-out this afternoon. Besides a hefty man with the boot, the former Varsity player is fast on his feet and is considered an excellent ball-carrier. His acquisition by the McGill Club should strengthen the back division materially.

Carroll was out with the Varsity contingent earlier in the season, although he had not registered at Toronto, and was slated to play on the half line against Queens in last Saturday's game, but owing to the fact that he was not a fully registered undergraduate, did not compete in the match.

While not very conversant with the signals of the McGill squad yet, it is not unlikely that the latest recruit to the squad will be carried to Toronto as spare to be used in case of emergency in the big game.

MOTORCYCLE RECORD.

A very noteworthy performance on the motor track was that of J. S. Holroyd, who, on a 2 1/2 h.p. motorcycle, recently covered a distance of 602 miles 658 yards in 12 hours at Brooklands. By doing this, he established 31 new records for various intermediate distances. After seven hours' riding he averaged 51.18 miles per hour, and for the whole period of 12 hours he averaged 50.19 miles per hour.

"DAILY" STAFF.

The Managing Board wish to emphasize the necessity of a representative attendance at the Semi-Annual Meeting of the Staff, called for this afternoon at 5:15 p.m. All men on the Staff at the present time, and also all those who may contemplate activity on the Staff during the year, are asked to attend. The importance of this meeting is such that it should take precedence over all other matters at 5:15 this afternoon.

SENIOR TEAM PREPARES FOR 'VARSITY GAME

Team Will Leave Friday On Morning Train.

CHANGES IN LINE-UP.

Many Rooters Expected To Support the Team in This Important Fixture.

Finishing touches to the training of the McGill squad for the big inter-collegiate rugby fixture with Varsity at Toronto on Saturday will be completed by Coach Shaughnessy at the Stadium this afternoon when the redoubtable "Shag" will put the Red and White intercollegiate championship aspirants through their paces for the last time prior to the match, which promises to be of the most importance in deciding which aggregation will carry off first place in the league. The McGill team, with spares and officials, will leave for the Varsity camp to-morrow morning and will indulge in a good rest before the struggle. It is certain that there will be a big following of rooters go down on the train on Friday evening to take in the game.

Varsity supporters are confident that the Blue and White squad will come out on the long end of the score in the tussle and the latest word from the lair of the Toronto rugby squad is that they are giving their team 8 chances to 5 for a win. While Shag and his team are not making any bold statements regarding the prospects of the Red and White aggregation, there is no question but that the McGill team will take the field determined to go the limit to bring honors back to Montreal. With the Red and White team a little weaker than last year, and Varsity apparently much improved, a hard battle is anticipated, and the squad from Old McGill is ready.

Captain "Dud" Ross was an absentee from the practice yesterday, but expects to be out this afternoon, and to be ready to start in the game at Toronto. With the wet field it was not considered advisable for the husky skipper of the squad to trust his bad leg to the slippery ground. Timmins, who received a crack in the knee two

FORMER MCGILL STUDENT DEAD

S. A. Shepherd Passed Away
Last Friday in England.

Yet another of McGill's former students has passed away, in the person of Sheringham Arthur Shepherd, who died suddenly in London on Friday last.

Mr. Shepherd was born at Cpmo, P.Q., in 1854, the third son of Capt. R. W. Shepherd, and, after passing through the Montreal High School, entered McGill University. In 1871, he entered the Bank of Montreal, with which he served 28 years, reaching the position of acting agent in New York. In addition to his business in the Bank of Montreal, he was for some time vice-president of the Ashland Emery Mills, of Perth Amboy, N.J.

On retiring from his profession in 1874, Mr. Shepherd bought the beautiful estate of Grahame Grange, near Guildford, in Surrey. He lived there until last year, when he went to live in London.

The late Mr. Shepherd, who was an intimate friend of Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, general manager of the Bank of Montreal, had the honor of being presented to the late King Edward in 1905.

Mr. Shepherd married Miss Catherine McAndrew, of Staten Island, N.Y., who predeceased him in 1911, and is survived by two sons, one in Australia and the other in Ireland.

His only daughter, Miss Catherine Shepherd, was recently married to Capt. Hobart Molson, whose name is well known to all graduates and students of McGill.

Mr. Shepherd, with Capt. and Mrs. Molson, was here up till a few weeks ago, when they sailed for England together.

This is the second ex-pupil of McGill whose death we have had to report in two days, one in the prime of life, and the second after a long and successful career, doing honor to himself and the University where he received his education.

Carat is the standard by which precious stones and gold are weighed. For instance, Gold said to be 22 carats fine should contain 22 parts of gold, 1 part of silver and 1 of copper.

"Sterling" is the standard for Silver. An article stamped "sterling" means true weight and fineness.

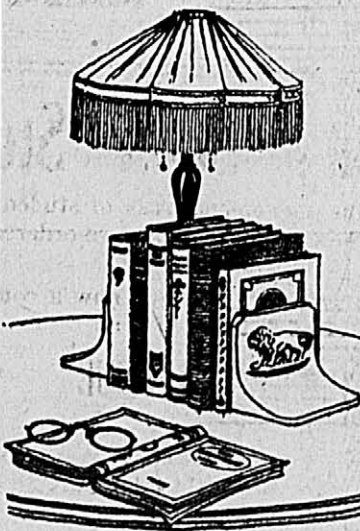

Fit-Reform is the standard of tailoring. The Fit-Reform label means as much to a Suit or Overcoat as "24K" means to gold or "sterling" means to silver.

SIR A. W. CURRIE HONORED BY THE UNIV. OF NEW YORK

Honorary Degree Of Doctor Of Laws Conferred Upon Him — Only Five Men Have Been Granted Degree Before

It is with great interest that we learn of the honor conferred upon our principal, Sir Arthur Currie, by the University of New York. The degree of Honorary Doctor of Laws is one which this university has granted only on very special occasions to men whom they consider particularly deserving. We are glad they should select Sir Arthur as the recipient of this rare degree.

We feel sure that Sir Arthur will deserve the honor given to him, and we are proud of the fact that he who has been so honored is the principal of the institution of which we are all proud—McGill.

In his presentation address, Regent James Bryce spoke as follows:

The university honors itself tonight in the formal recognition of the worth and achievements of a great citizen-soldier and soldier-citizen.

The whole world admired the generous ardor with which Canada rushed into the war, and the valor and intelligence with which her soldiers fought from the moment they reached the battlefields of France. Among the earliest to go was the man who, after fighting at the head of his brigade, and then at the head of his division, gained, early in 1917, the command of the Canadian Corps. The indomitable bravery of the men of this corps and the military genius of its commander, his boldness and his spaciousness of outlook, are the story of a magnificent army and a magnificent leader. A British army commander said that the attack of the Canadian Corps across the Canal du Nord, with the subsequent extension of the Allied line, was the most brilliantly executed manoeuvre in the history of the war.

But all the brave deeds in Flanders have not brought peace and good-will and happiness for the world, but only the opportunity to work for them free from the one great enemy of them all, that we have destroyed, to work for them by recalling all the high and noble sentiments that we uttered in the exaltation of war, not to make us smile and say what fools we were, but to make us say how wise and honest we were — how our opened eyes saw reality, and our tongue spoke the things our eyes saw. How near to one another in those days were the great and the humble in beliefs and deeds and aspirations. Who but us, Canada and the United States, should know that peace between nations can be obtained, Canada and the United States that for all these long years have lived in peace and will live in peace in years to come more numerous than the miles of that boundary — that unfortified, undefended boundary line that separates our countries.

And in this work the citizen soldier will lead as he led in war. All his earnestness, his courage, his independence and his love of country — all the qualities that made him great in war he brings to the service of his country's great university.

In the struggle to gain all those things for which the war was waged I am sure that he will fight in the way in which he said, in his famous order of March 27, 1918, to the Canadian soldiers, every Canadian had ever fought — with all his strength, with all his determination, with all his tranquil courage.

I take pleasure, Mr. President, in presenting to you for the highest honor in the gift of the university, Sir Arthur William Currie, the commander of the Canadian Corps during the world war, now principal and vice-chancellor of McGill University.

Dr. Currie responded to President Finley in these words:

"Dr. Finley, ladies and gentlemen: I wish I had sufficient command of language to express in a manner satisfactory to me my great appreciation of this most distinguished honor. As Dr. Finley has intimated, I choose to regard it, not only as a very great honor to myself to be associated with such a small number of men so honored, but I regard it as a tribute from this great State of New York to our country, Canada, and as a tribute from this great university to its nearest neighbor, the University of McGill College, of which I have the honor to be principal. I am indeed very much indebted for the kind words of my precursor. It may surprise some of you to know that one, who for the last five years, was engaged in war work, proceeds to give that up to enter educational work. But I became closely associated with the idea of service overseas, and realizing that the institutions that can perform the greatest service to a country, are the educational institutions, I welcomed with great joy the privilege of becoming associated with McGill University.

"Let me give you an example of what men will do for service, and I am glad that in this particular example it was a bit of work carried out by citizens of this country. At this very same battle of which Mr. Morganthau has spoken, Vimy Ridge, and shortly after the capture of that ridge, a small patrol was sent out under a corporal and six men. They all came from the State of Illinois. The corporal was told to ascertain a bit of information that was regarded as being of great value. He went out with his small patrol to get the information, but when he turned to come back he was shelled by hostile machine fire and his men were forced to drop into the shell holes. To move from that position was pretty certain death to every one, yet that young corporal knew that that information was of no value unless it was sent back, and he was anxious to return and give that information. He turned to the other six boys with him and said: 'I am going over there. When they see me and start firing you beat it.' He knew that when he moved over in that direction the machine guns would turn their fire on him, but that his comrades, taking advantage of that, could get away. And the information, which was regarded as highly valuable, got back to headquarters, but that corporal lies buried near an old gun emplacement on the slope of Vimy Ridge.

"I do not intend to address you long, but just refer again to why I desired to become associated with educational work. To me the colleges and universities and the nation are inseparably linked together.

"The nation is the field for the exercise of citizenship and for the display and service of man's knowledge. And the colleges and the schools are the places where men are prepared to discharge their duties as citizens. The two great laws, ladies and gentlemen, that govern humanity are the law of self-culture and the law of service. The university provides opportunity for the former and the State gives scope for the latter. It is the duty of every one of us to make the most possible out of our lives and to store up resources of knowledge and virtue. But after you have stored your reason with ideas and your memory with the facts of history and the culture of the ages, then duty steps in and you must step out into the State and do your duty to humanity.

"I could look at the matter from another angle. Ideas rule the world. It was never more true than at the present time. The good book says that 'Where there is no vision the people perish.' Vision is simply the apprehension of ideas. The seers and prophets are the makers of history. It was Carlyle who said that the history of a nation is simply the history of great men writ large. And the men that climb the hill and see the vision ought to lead the people out of darkness into light. What are these hills? The hills of thought, of meditation and reflection. And the men? Men of wisdom, learning and vision. That is the mission of the schools and colleges.

"Education for utilization purposes can be justified, education merely as a declaration is despicable, but education that wakes the imagination, that kindles the intellectual powers, that leads men to blaze new trails — that is the ideal of education.

"Here rests the ark that bears all that is left of the Old World's civilization, and from here we will create new ideals and send out new life and strength and hope to a new civilization — one that shall not pass away or be destroyed.

"I could, with a great deal of pleasure to myself, tell you how the university and the nation are linked up economically, or in terms of industry, politically, or in terms of government, spirituality, or in terms of education. They are inseparably linked together.

"Sir Auckland Geddes made use of an apt expression when he said that the university of the college could save the world, and you, who are the teachers of youth in our land, if I could say anything to impress upon you all the nobleness of the mission in which you are engaged I would be happy. I am glad that at one time I was a school teacher. The patience I learned there and the knowledge I gained of human kind were some of the qualities that have stood me in very good stead.

"I remember that the first speaker, the Hon. Mr. Glynn, said that New York spent more on its education than any other area in the world. I am glad of that because education is the one thing on which no people can spend too much. The more you pay for it, the richer you become. Ignorance is the most costly thing in the world; and when we think of the cost of ignorance, why then the cost of education is very, very cheap. I think that one could affirm with confidence that the power and the wealth, the success and the security, of the existing nations are in direct proportion to the standard of their educational institutions, and that these nations or people have the highest standard and the best system

TRIALS TO BE HELD FRIDAY

Candidates For Track Team To Turn Out At the Stadium.

The candidates for the McGill track team will turn out at the Stadium to-morrow afternoon. This meet will be the trials to decide who will be members of the team to uphold the honour of McGill at the Inter-collegiate track meet. Therefore, much depends on the showing that the men make when they run. There has been lots of time for them to get in condition, and the competition will be keen, for it is a great honour to be given a place on this team. The majority of the men who gained laurels at the University sports last Friday won because of superior fitness. But the men who lacked this important asset then will no doubt have rectified it by to-morrow. Many of the results last Friday surprised some of the track athletic fans. But we venture to say that there will be a few more in store for them to-morrow, and that some of Friday's winners will be ousted from their pinnacle of fame. There are some of the men who have not even seen the track since the last meet, but who have been resting up in anticipation of to-morrow's trials. They will be out in force on Friday, prepared to pit their best efforts against all comers. The team is to consist of eighteen men, and so it will not be an aggregation of a lucky few. On the contrary, all those who prove themselves good enough will get a position. The full quota of runners is to be carried on the trip to Toronto, so that those who are awarded a place may be sure of going. It is expected that the members of the team will be announced on Friday night, as soon as the results of these trials are sent in.

At the meet held at the Queen City yesterday, the Toronto men made an impressive showing. The Red and White squad will have to toe the mark and travel at top speed to gain the Intercollegiate Championship. There are only three days next week in which to get fit before departing for Toronto. Those who are not in proper condition now can hardly hope to improve before then.

The results are being awaited with keen expectation, and everyone wishes the best of luck to those who gain a position.

DELTA SIGMA HELD MEETING

Large Attendance With Good Programme — New Officers Elected.

The first meeting of the Delta Sigma was held yesterday afternoon in the R.V.C. The Common Room was packed to the doors, spectators even standing on window sills throughout the meeting. Before the performances of the several years were run off, some necessary business was transacted. The resignation of the former honorary president, Miss Vera L. Brown, was read and accepted. Miss May L. Newnam, of Arts '17, was elected her successor. Owing to illness, Miss Margaret Murray has resigned from the position of secretary-treasurer; Miss Norah James was elected in Miss Murray's place. Miss Mary Bishop was then elected as first year representative on the Delta Sigma executive. After a few words of welcome to the Freshies, Miss Hackett, the president, gave the floor to the performers.

The Seniors were the first to put on their stunt — a dumb-show of Dr. Leacock's "Behind the Beyond," with an apology to Dr. Leacock for necessary alterations and for using his book as a dumb-show. The parts were played as follows:

Sir John Trevers... Miss Janie Spier. Lady Cicely Trevers... Miss D. Aylen. Mr. Harding... Miss E. Holland. Mrs. Harding... Miss K. Godwin. Valet... Miss Kate Gillespie. Ernestina... Miss B. Larkin.

The Sophs followed with their stunt, another dumb-show, representing "Vanity Fair." Miss Joan Foster read a kind of nursery rhyme version of "Vanity Fair," while the chief characters acted the parts, which were taken by the following girls: Miss Pinkerton... Miss M. McPhail. Miss Amelia Sedley, Miss G. Beckwith. Miss Becky Sharpe, Miss B. Cameron. The Misses Crawley.

that support their schools and their colleges and their teachers most liberally.

"Let me again repeat my thanks to this university for this distinguished honor. It is not the only one I have received from the people of the United States, for of all the military decorations which I bear, I hold none more dear than the distinguished service medal given to me by the President of the United States.

"I wish for the great work in which you all are engaged God's most bountiful blessings."

Mrs. Sedley... Miss J. Reyner. Jos. Sedley... Miss M. Pick. Sir Pitt Crawley... Miss L. Campbell. Rawdon Crawley... Miss M. Perry. Capt. Dobbin... Miss W. Kydd. Geo. Osborne... Miss K. Evans. Lord Steynes... Miss C. Freedman. This stunt was followed by the Juniors, who put on the play of "Pyramus and Thisbe," as staged by the Athenian workmen before the Duke of Athens. The cast was: Duke of Athens... Miss M. Fry. Master of Revels... Miss M. Tait. Court Ladies.

Miss S. MacRae and Miss McGoun. Courtier... Miss E. Snyder. Thisbe... Miss R. Shatford. Pyramus... Miss K. Newnam. Wall... Miss J. Henderson. Moonshine... Miss D. Sharples. Lion... Miss W. Birkett. Prologue... Miss T. Rongh.

The last performance was that of the first year. This stunt was a very amusing imitation of a small-town concert of local talent. Those taking part in the stunt were:

The Misses Thompson, G. Fielders, Robins, A. Jackson, I. Higginson and Hielig.

At the close of this stunt the meeting came to an end with the singing of "Hail! Alma Mater" and M-C-G-I-L-L!

LOSE MILE RUNNER. N

Pennsylvania State College's chances in track have received a setback by the announcement that M. L. Shields, star distance man and one of the leading performers on the United States Olympic team, would not return to complete his college course.

With the return of Harold Barron, the Olympic hurdler, a few days ago, prospects looked bright for a wonderful track team, but the loss of Shields will greatly handicap Coach Martin. Shields would have graduated next June. He was captain of the Penn State team last year and won the mile championship at the intercollegiate last May. Shields says that he will not do any more running but devote all of his time to business.

NEW N.C.O.'S APPOINTED IN UNIV. C.O.T.C.

Many New Men Are Added To Contingent's Strength.

WILL BE GOOD YEAR.

It Is Hoped That New Men Will Support This Active Organization.

Promotion is the result of hard work and faithful service, and under the heading of Contingent Orders, Part I, Lieut.-Colonel Magee, D.S.O., is pleased to approve of several appointments in the C.O.T.C. These promotions are undoubtedly well deserved, and the undermentioned men are to be congratulated on their rise from the ranks.

It is also with great pleasure that we print the names of many new men who have joined the rank and file of this organization, which is one of the most valuable and important organizations in Old McGill. We hope that many more men will follow the lead of these new recruits, and help the C.O.T.C., which has done great things in the past, to do great things in the future.

days ago at practice, was also among those missing, while it has been definitely announced that Selby Cope's shoulder is in such condition as to keep him out of the Varsity game at least.

New men, who are shaping up to take the place of those incapacitated, are showing excellent form and their addition to the line-up will not weaken the squad. Don Baillie was in the game in earnest yesterday afternoon for the first time since he was injured in the knee three weeks ago, and showed up in his old-time form at centre scrimmage. "Boo" Anderson has been working out at flying wing in place of Cope, and Normie Wallace has been at the key position behind the scrimmage. Flanagan, Russell and Wilson are eating up everything around the half line, and in Carroll, the latest addition to the squad from Toronto, McGill has a first-rate half who can fill in on Saturday if emergency calls for such a move.

Besides the regular line-men Fitzgerald and MacGregor show promise of making things hot in the bucking game, while "Bones" Little, Matthewson, Lazier and Gamble can be counted on at all times.

Before the team takes the field on Saturday it is anticipated that several switches will be made in the line formation to further strengthen that machine which is now developed into a respectable bucking organization and one which can be counted upon to sift through the Varsity line when needed.

Dr. Lorne C. Montgomery and Hugh Gaul have been selected as the officials to handle this important intercollegiate fixture.

Loose spending is likely to land one in a tight corner.

The less a person knows the more certain he is that he is right.

Correspondence

To the Editor, "McGill Daily."

Dear Sir,—

If I might infringe upon your space I would ask a question: What's the matter with the Western Club? Every other sectional club in the University has "started something." Why should the West be behind the rest? Before I reached McGill I heard glowing reports of the Western Club activities; now I am here I find stagnation. Thanking you.

Yours truly,

A WESTERNER.

To the Editor, "McGill Daily."

Dear Sir,—

I should like to say a few words in reply to a letter appearing in Wednesday's issue over the signature "R. T." The writer of this article must be misinformed, or, more possibly, he is one of those who have been refused accommodation at the Central Y.M.C.A.

It is indeed lamentable that a McGill man should seek to raise the McGill Y.M.C.A. in the estimation of your readers at the expense of a brother organization, but it is needless to mention that his endeavours will meet with as little enthusiasm at Strathcona Hall as they have among the undergraduates of the University.

If this is purely an instance of "sour grapes," as is obviously the case, it is, to say the least, very un-sportsmanlike, and, it might be added, absolutely useless, to use the McGill Daily as a vehicle for slander against an organization entirely outside its scope—an organization which has done all in its power to help college men, but which, because of limited space, and because of obligations to the public, has been unable to shelter all who applied for rooms. If "R. T." feels that he has a genuine complaint against the Drummond Street Association let him bring it where it will be appreciated and rectified; if not, let him remember that it does McGill no good, nor the Central "Y" any harm, to deal back-handed blows at the latter through your columns.

Trusting that "R. T." may be as unsuccessful next year in his attempts to gain admittance to the Central Y.M.C.A. as he has been this session.

I am,

Sincerely yours,

A RESIDENT MEMBER.

To the Editor, "McGill Daily."

Dear Sir,—

In the issue of the "McGill Daily" of October 19th, we noticed an editorial under the heading of "A College Supply Store." In which the writer seems to think there is profiteering going on in the book business.

Will you be kind enough to give us sufficient space in your valuable journal to state a few facts, which, we think, will clearly prove that there is absolutely no profiteering in the book or supply business, particularly upon the requirements of schools and colleges.

We will take, for example, the case of a book which the publisher lists at $6; from this list price the book-seller gets on an average a discount of 20 per cent., which means that we pay $4.80 for a $6 book, to which must be added postage or shipping charges; and in the case where books come from the States, Customs brokers fees must be included, and if funds are made to the United States another 11 per cent. is added to the cost to cover exchange. To this total there is a further 2 per cent. Government sales tax, which brings the total up to somewhere around $5.25 for a $6 book.

Some publishers allow a discount of 25 per cent., but the average is around 20 per cent.

Then there is the risk of transportation, over stocking and fire insurance, etc., to be taken into consideration; and as is often the case, one book is changed for another which means there is so much dead stock on hand and money tied up.

We feel sure that the booksellers are carrying on, with a much smaller margin of profit than any other line of business, it being understood that to successfully conduct any other business a margin of 25 per cent. is necessary. This amount is not realized in our line.

Regarding delay. This is due entirely to the publishers who, through the lack of paper and labor troubles, are unable to fill the orders fast enough.

Trusting you will give us enough space to place our side of the question before your readers.

We are,

Yours very truly,

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE.

SERIES OF EVENTS FOR E. T. CLUB

To Include Dances and Dinner.

LIST OF PATRONS.

Executive To Edit Column Of McGill News In E. T. Newspapers.

Social activities galore are forecasted for the Eastern Townships Club this winter. The activities of the Club are not to be confined to smokers, but are to include practically every kind of social function ever held at McGill. The executive of the Club, at a meeting last night, drew up the following provisional programme:—

First, to afford the Eastern Townships men an opportunity to know one another informally, and thus to insure the success of the subsequent activities of the Club, a smoker will be held in the Union on November 3rd. The expense of this smoker will be met out of the funds of the Club.

For the second week in December, shortly before the men leave for the holidays, a theatre party has been suggested. There should be no trouble in securing seats for some fifty or sixty men, if application is made soon enough.

To fill in the slack period between the January exams and March 1st, the Secretary of the Club has asked the Students' Council for permission to hold a dance in the Union during the second or third week in February, the exact date to be determined by the Committee on Social Functions. In addition to this dance, the Club will probably hold a Snowshoe Tramp and a Skating Party, to be followed by a moose hunt on the ice.

The dance and dinner will probably be the only two functions involving expense to the Club members, because if sufficient men join, the initiation fee will amply cover the cost of the minor functions.

The Secretary of the Club read letters from the Hon. W. G. Mitchell, Provincial Treasurer, accepting the honorary presidency of the Club, and from the Hon. Sydney A. Fisher, LL.D., Andrew R. McMaster, K.C., M.P., and John Hackett, K.C., accepting honorary patronages of the Club. The executive hopes to have these gentlemen at the smoker and dinner to be held before the holidays.

Suggestions and criticisms with reference to these or any other functions will be welcomed. To secure the approval of the E. T. men of this programme, a meeting of the actual and prospective members will be held in the Union Smoking Room on Wednesday, October 27th. The exact hour of this meeting will be announced through the columns of the "Daily" in due course.

It is well to remember that to carry out this programme the executive will require strong support. Money is needed for the minor events, and the membership fee is the Club's only source of revenue. As a result, the individual E. T. man is in a way responsible for the continued existence or collapse of the Club, and is urged to do his best to back the executive.

In order to keep the relatives of McGill men in the Eastern Townships in touch with the activities of the Club and of the individual members, the executive proposes conducting a column of McGill news in the Eastern Townships' newspapers, to appear each week, and to give an account of all functions of the Club, of all athletic, academic and other distinctions attained by the individual members, or of any other happening here which will be of interest to those at home. All men interested are therefore asked kindly to turn in any information they have which they think would be of interest in this column either to T. L. Bullock, at the office of the "McGill Daily," or to A. S. Johnson in the Arts Building, soon enough to be made up and sent out to the papers on Fridays of each week.

SEMI-ANNUAL MEETING OF UNDERGRADS.

Council Presented Report Of Year's Activities.

THE UNION.

Question Of Dances To Be Settled By Committee On Social Functions.

There was a fair attendance at the semi-annual meeting of the Students' Society held in the Union at 5 p.m. yesterday, in spite of unpleasant weather conditions.

D. R. Leary, President of the Students' Council, occupied the chair. He remarked on the attendance, and mentioned that on previous occasions such meetings have had to be adjourned for lack of a quorum.

The President then reported on the activities of the Council for the last year. The financial statement of the Council will be completed in a day or two, and will be published in the columns of the "McGill Daily" as soon as possible. There will be a substantial balance.

The cafeteria has re-opened this year under new direction. Owing to outside affairs, Mr. Price, who ran it last year, had to relinquish his duties to a new man.

A substantial sum has been expended on minor repairs to the Union. Billiard tables have had to be recovered, the walls and ceilings have been retinted, carpets have been cleaned, furniture has been repaired, and all the details under the jurisdiction of the Council have been attended to. The President asked the students to be as careful as possible to avoid damaging the billiard tables and other furnishings of the Union. In connection with the reading-room he remarked that on several occasions last year magazines and papers were removed by unscrupulous men. He appealed to the undergraduate body to see to it that such conduct be avoided and prevented this year. Incidentally, as representative of a list of papers as soon as possible will be obtained for the use of students.

The President went on to explain the situation with regard to dances. He asked the meeting whether it was their wish to have any extra dances which might be available allotted to the clubs under the jurisdiction of the Council, or to sectional clubs which might apply for them. It was the will of the meeting that the dances be awarded first to those clubs which are directly connected with the Council, and then to others in the order in which they make application. It was at the same time announced that the Committee on Social Functions will be held shortly when the number of dances to be granted to the undergraduates will finally be decided.

The question was brought up of a book and supply store to be run by and for the student body. The President warned the Society that this is a delicate matter, one which is not to be rashly taken up, which has already been tried without success, and one which requires not only considerable capital, but much time to organize and administer. It was suggested that possibly one of the present stationers in the vicinity of the University might be given a contract to handle the students' books, and that said bookseller be allowed a certain margin of profit, all above to return to the student body. A committee of the Council was appointed to look into the question and report at the next semi-annual meeting to be held in March.

An amendment to the constitution of the McGill Union, which was read at the general meeting of the Society last spring, but which was not passed owing to the lack of a quorum, was read and adopted.

The meeting then adjourned.

JUNIORS WIN VICTORY OVER LOYOLA TEAM

Bucked Their Opponents Quite At Will.

SCORE WAS 33 TO 1.

Very Heavy Rain Made the Ball Slippery and Play Slow.

Outplaying their opponents in every department of the game, McGill's Junior Rugby squad gained its third straight victory in the Junior Q.R. F.U., when it defeated the Loyola team at the Percival Molson Memorial Stadium yesterday afternoon by a score of 33 to 1. The win practically ensures the McGill third team of leading honors in their division of the league, there being only one more game in which the squad is scheduled to compete, which is called for next Saturday against Macdonald at the Red and White grounds. As the Juniors have already defeated the Aggies once this season, it is not anticipated that they will have much trouble in disposing of the team from St. Anne at the end of the week.

From the first whistle until the end of the game, the Red and White squad bucked the Notre Dame de Grace fourteen at will, and made big openings in their line through which the McGill backs continually filtered for big gains. Heavy rain served to slow up the play and rendered the pigskin too slippery for accurate work, but nevertheless the McGill team came through with a good exhibition. Loyola fought gamely to the last, but were no match for their heavier and more experienced opponents.

Pierce got over for two tries for the Red and White squad, while Crain, Emo, Reid and Williamson each notched one. Two points were made by converts, and the remaining counter on a rouge. Loyola scored its only point of the match early in the game when Altimas blocked a kick by the McGill centre half, Williamson, and the ball went behind the Red and White line, where it was held.

Seiby Cope officiated as referee. The teams lined up as follows:

McGill	Positions	Loyola
Mallison	...flying wing...	Walsh
Pierce	...half...	Des Laurier
Williamson	...half...	McGarry
Whitall	...half...	Swenaga
Crain	...quarter...	Leamy

TO-NIGHT'S THE NIGHT, UNDERGRADS.

The form of ginger ale—pivious smokers plainly demonstrated the futility of attempting to furnish "cats" to the satisfaction of all, so that the committee has found it expedient to follow a middle course. Although there will be drinks the evening will be "dry," as the ginger ale will be "Adenac Dry."

Don't be backward—the gang's going. Arrange to meet them at the Union at eight o'clock to-night. Enjoy the performance with the bunch and see that your professors can play as well as lecture. Everyone at the Union to-night, then—It's free!

R.V.C. ANNUAL RECITAL.

To-night in the Royal Victoria College Hall, the staff of the Conservatorium of Music will hold its annual recital. Miss Edith Johnson, Miss D'Armour, Miss Kerwick, Miss Lamontagne and Dr. Victor Laurent, will be the performers.

McGILL UNION DOES SHIMMY

Rooters' Band At First Practice Shakes the Walls.

Syncoated melodies of the jazziest type had the whole of the McGill Union dancing the shimmy yesterday afternoon. Officials of the institution, undergraduates passing away a few off-moments, and even the walls of the building itself, joined in the popular craze as weird strains wafted aloft from the basement and sent the whole place a-quiver.

The cause of the disturbance was the recently organized McGill Rooters' Band, which, under the leadership of "Chub" LeBaron, was indulging in its first regular practice in preparation for the big intercollegiate games which are scheduled to be held here shortly. Fifteen pieces took part in the tune-up yesterday, and for a first trial the result was beyond expectation. Three drummers, who rap a snappy bunch of sticks, three cornet players who blow a wicked note, and a trombone player sliding a weird moan, all helped to produce jazz that would make a cobaret orchestra turn green with envy. Besides the odd flute and bass and also horn came through with improvisations that showed the touch of past-masters at the game. The big drummer was very much there, and to say that he heaves the big stick like a hammer is putting it mildly.

Charlie Gray, A. B. Copping and J. B. Woodman were on the Kettles, and they certainly made them boil, while D. Boyd backed them up in excellent style with the big drum. Allan, "Chub" LeBaron, Furminger, and McGillvary made merry on the cornets, while Fortune, Riddell, Stevens, J. Robinson and J. Veames blew into the bass horns. Harold Taber and Matthews were the melodious fellows with the flute, and LaFleche put the minstrels to shame with his sliding trombone.

Having got away to such a good start, the leader is now anxious to line up as many players as can get around to practice, that the Rooters' Band might prove one of the big organizations in putting the extra "pep" needed into the cheering at the games and in keeping alive that spirit which always leads to victory.

CHEAP RATES

Provided that a sufficient number of students signify their intention of making the trip to Toronto to witness the McGill-Varsity Intercollegiate rugby fixture on October 23, a special reduced rate for the journey will be arranged with the railway company. There are many students who are keen to take the jaunt down to the fair of the Varsity squad that they might root for the Red and White, but to date the increased cost of fares seems to make the proposition too steep to be considered by most of the enthusiasts. If approximately 150 supporters of the team would agree to go providing they received a rate that would save them about five dollars, special arrangements will be made to transport the contingent to the Queen City. To this end the "McGill Daily" has opened a list and all those who would make the trip on condition that a cheap rate is obtained are asked to call in the Editorial office at the Union and sign their names.

Come on now rooters, all who can, sign up early, and let McGill have a strong following of supporters when the team takes the field against Varsity in what will prove to be the most critical game of the Intercollegiate series this season.
